Recognition of Commitment Awarded to Wally Dodson

TALLAHASSEE—Walter “Wally” Dodson, Jr. was recently named the recipient of the “Joseph E. Henderson Award” by the board of directors of BancServ, Inc. in recognition of his extraordinary commitment and support. The award was given to Dodson at a ceremony during the Florida Bankers Association (FBA) Annual Convention, which was held at The Breakers in Palm Beach.

Dodson, president and chief executive officer (CEO) of Wakulla Bank in Crawfordville, is a past chairman of the FBA and is proud to have received the award, in part because it honors the memory of a friend.

“Joe Henderson was a great man who was committed to his family, to banking, to BancServ and to his community. His actions exhibited integrity, dedication and leadership,” said Dodson. “This award is a wonderful tribute to him and I’m honored to be the first recipient.”

The award was established through a resolution that was issued June 24 and, according to FBA President and CEO Alex Sanchez, Dodson is the perfect first recipient.

“Wally embodies all of the criteria outlined for the Joseph E. Henderson Award, including an incredible commitment to the banking industry,” said Sanchez. “Wally’s efforts—and the efforts of hard-working bankers like him—are vital to the success of the Florida banking industry.”

The Joseph E. Henderson Award will be awarded at the direction of the BancServ, Inc. Board of Directors.

BancServ, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of the Florida Bankers Association, was established to solve problems for financial institutions by endorsing certain vendors and recommending them to Florida bankers. By performing due-diligence testing and comparative analysis for member banks, BancServ, Inc. saves banking resources.
